

Glenn Goldman Booksellers' Scholarship Application Due September 1, 2009

Glenn Goldman, founder & owner of Book Soup, West Hollywood was a bookseller who valued an opportunity to get together with other independent booksellers to discuss business, learn from one another, share a favorite read and learn something new to take back to Book Soup. Unfortunately, Southern California lost Glenn this past January to cancer. To honor Glenn, Adrian Newell, Book Soup and Southern California Independent Booksellers Association (SCIBA) have established a scholarship fund. The purpose is to provide an opportunity for booksellers to attend some of the events that Glenn attended and appreciated.

This year the Glenn Goldman Booksellers Scholarship Fund (GGBSF) will award two scholarships. One scholarship to the SCIBA's Authors Feast & Trade Show, October 24, 2009. This scholarship will include a ticket to the Authors Feast & Book Award Dinner, a Saturday night stay at the Millennium Biltmore Hotel the night of the dinner and a transportation allowance to / from the event. The second scholarship will be for the ABA's Winter Institute in San Jose, February 4 through February 7, 2010. The scholarship will provide hotel stay for three nights and a transportation allowance.

Applicant Requirements:

- Must be currently employed in a brick and mortar bookstore that is a member of SCIBA.
- Minimum of two years experience in bookselling.
- Not available to owners or senior managers.

Please complete this application and send to the SCIBA office by September 1, 2009. The GGBS committee will review all applications and make their awards by October 1, 2009.
